

Matthew Martinez, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine

He serves as director of Sports Cardiology and Director of Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy program at Morristown Medical Center/Atlantic Health System. He regularly presents on Sports Cardiology and Hypertrophic cardiomyopathy at national and international meetings. He has been an author of many publications on HCM and Athletes including the 2020 ACC/AHA guidelines for Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy and is the Chair of ACC online “LEARNHCM” platform to educate clinicians about HCM patient care. Dr. Martinez serves as a cardiology consultant for elite and professional athletes including acting as the League cardiologist for Major League Soccer, team cardiologist for the New York Jets and cardiac consultant for the NFL and NHL. He has expertise in advanced cardiac imaging using echo, cardiac MRI and CT and has led many educational events nationally and internationally on these topics.